

FAMINE AND WANT FACE AUSTRIA BABIES

Vienna, the Once Powerful City of 2,500,000 People Now Facing Famine and Want -- New Babies Are Wrapped in Newspapers for Swaddling Clothes.

New York, Feb. 12.—Babies brought into the world in famine-stricken Vienna are being wrapped in newspapers instead of "swaddling clothes," according to a cablegram received by American relief committee here from President Seitz of Austrian republic. Since the downfall of the Austrian-Hungarian government, the former great city of Vienna in which there were 2,500,000 people, is dwindling into decay. It is predicted that soon the city will be reduced to about 250,000 people on account of the closing of industries and decrease in the population and strength of the former empire. It has been pointed out by observers of the movements of the world that the history of Babylon, Alexandria and Nineveh may be repeated. In the former days of glory and power under the reign of emperors and the subjugation of the people the greatest extravagance appeared in all the departments.

Thousands and tens of thousands of people are now begging bread in the streets but little attempt is made to work as the people under the new forms of government seem not to be able to grasp the situation and meet the responsibilities. The results are a culmination of long years of misrule under the influence of Germany.

FARMERS AT COURT HOUSE SATURDAY

Much interest is being shown by farmers of the county in a meeting to be held in the court house Saturday afternoon to secure a cotton classing and marketing office in Bryan for next season. Large delegations have been chosen to attend by meetings held at Tabor Kurten and Steep Hollow and other meetings will be held during the week at Shiloh, Kosarek and Wellborn.

All of these meetings are being attended by representatives of the A. and M. college and the U. S. bureau of markets, which have charge of similar cotton marketing offices which have been in successful operation in twenty-four counties in the states this season.

All farmers in the county are invited to attend the meeting at the court house Saturday afternoon when the plans will be fully explained and steps taken to organize a Brazos county cotton classing and marketing association.

PLEA OF PRIVILEGES UPHELD BY COURT

Austin, Tex., Feb. 12.—First Assistant Attorney General W. A. Keeling returned to Austin this afternoon and announced that the plea of privilege in the injunction suit brought by the board of managers of the Southwest Insane Asylum against the state board of control was sustained by District Judge R. B. Minor, and the suit transferred to the fifty-third district court at Austin. That was the only point argued before Judge Minor, counsel for the board of control contending that the only courts having jurisdiction in suits against the board of control were the district courts of Travis county and the supreme court. This contention was sustained by Judge Minor. The members of the board of control also returned to Austin today.

Judge Keeling left last night for Houston, where he is to attend a hearing called by Controller Mark L. Wigginton, and before which certain Houston physicians have been summoned to show cause why their licenses to write prescriptions for whiskey should not be revoked.

Austin, Feb. 12.—United States railroad administration will honor claims for reparation on commodities moving on short lines involved in Shreveport rate case down to basis provided by railroad commission tariffs where higher charges applied prior to December 23 last according to information received by the Texas Railroad Commission today.

CHAPLAIN JONES OF THE ELKS IN A NEAR WRECK

Chaplain Harry W. Jones, the noted Elk orator, who was in Bryan Wednesday and delivered a lecture at the Elks hall last night told a good story regarding an attempt on Saturday night to wreck the T. & P. train near Ranger. Chaplain Jones was aboard the Abeline sleeper on the through Pullman train that it was evidently the intention of the wreckers to smash up. This train, however, was a little late and a Saturday night special from Ranger to Fort Worth was running on its time, and when a mile and half out of Ranger the engineer saw a man dart across the tracks ahead and turn a switch so as to throw the train over an embankment and down into a ditch.

The chaplain's train was right behind the wreck and the report at Ranger when he went through there was that six persons had been killed in it. It was believed at Ranger that the intention was to have wrecked and robbed the through train.

The Ranger-Fort Worth train was a hopeless wreck. The ditch on one side was full of wrecked cars. The locomotive plowed into cars on a siding on the other side of the track, cutting right through them, and throwing wreckage about. The whole countryside was aroused by the crime.

The survivors, who were taken to Fort Worth on the through train, joined in a big vote of thanks to the engineer and fireman for the way they handled the emergency. Their quick work in setting the emergency brakes saved many lives, said the chaplain.

MORE GOING TO STRIKE.

Dallas, Texas, Feb. 12.—The open shop policy of the Dallas Chamber of commerce precipitated a second strike here Tuesday when union boot and shoe repair men in the largest shops in the city walked out, demanding recognition of the union. The first strike, which started as a result of open shop agitation here, resulted several weeks ago when 30 union art glass workers quit work. Most of them are still out, it is said.

Wants A. and M. College and Senatorial Redistricting

(Texas Republican Counselor.) Plans for the senatorial redistricting of West Texas and for an A. and M. college for that section of the state will be among the important matters to be considered by the executive committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at its meeting in Fort Worth February 23.

WILSON TO BE OPPOSED BY BAILEY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—Senator Bailey is planning to return to Texas to live and has placed his Washington home on the market, according to friends of the senator here. The rumor is current in Washington that the senator will be forced to make the race for governor of Texas and a definite statement on this question is expected from him when he returns to Texas. He now plans to spend Friday, February 13th in Dallas and has announced that he will deliver a speech in Gainesville the week following. In this speech Mr. Bailey is expected to review the issues of the coming campaign and reply to some of his critics. The senator has announced that he expected to be in Texas while the National Convention was in progress, since at that time the state campaign would be at its full height. The senator also stated that he would not be a candidate for a place on the Texas delegation to the National Democratic Convention, but would stay in Texas. This is construed here to mean that Bailey will be in the race for governor.

While Bailey has no desire to represent Texas at the National Convention, his followers are planning to control the State Democratic Convention in Fort Worth in May, and any effort on the part of the convention to endorse the Wilson administration will be blocked by the Bailey forces.

Bailey's friends will lay the ground-work for their campaign in the precinct and county conventions, and are expected to carry the fight to a finish in the State Meeting at Fort Worth.

TO AVOID ARTIFICIAL BANK FIGURES

Washington, Feb. 12.—Warning that prosperity and activity indicated by banking figures may become artificial and deceptive was given today by John Skelton Williams in annual reports as comptroller of currency. He said that in 1919 there were no national bank failures involving loss to depositors and that banking power of country had increased nine hundred per cent in last thirty years.

GRAND JURY ADJOURNS.

The grand jury for the February term of the district court adjourned finally today after being in session only four days, one of the shortest in the history of Brazos county courts. A written report was filed with the court which is as follows:

THE STATE OF TEXAS, COUNTY OF BRAZOS. In the District Court of Brazos County, Texas, February term A. D., 1920.

To Hon. W. C. Davis, Judge of said Court: We the grand-jurors duly sworn and empaneled at this the February term of said court, 1920, hereby respectfully submit the following report:

We have been in session four days, and have made a careful investigation of all violations of the criminal laws of the State of Texas, have returned into said Court thirteen indictments six of which are for felonies and seven for misdemeanors.

We have visited and inspected the jail and found the same in good condition.

We recommend that the special road law for Brazos county which was passed by the thirty-sixth legislature be so amended as to make same more effective. Respectfully submitted, A. M. WALDROP, Foreman.

COLLEGE UP BEFORE.

The agricultural college matter has also been the subject of much discussion. During the Ferguson administration a law was passed authorizing the establishment of a state school in West Texas and Abilene was finally chosen as the site for it, after a hard fight. After Ferguson's removal from office the law was repealed, but it is probable that a new fight for the institution will be waged in the next legislature.

SENATOR CULBERSON WILL NOT RESIGN

Washington, Feb. 12.—Senator Culbertson today authorized the statement that he did not intend to resign as a member of the senate. Periodically there has reached Washington a rumor from Texas that the senator would leave the senate and a prophecy as to whom Governor Hobbs would appoint to fill the place until an election could be held.

Senator Culbertson has ignored the rumors until today when upon learning that a story went out of Austin yesterday forecasting his resignation, he authorized the statement before referred to.

The senator's close friends say that he will be a candidate to succeed himself.

SEE END LEGISLATIVE QUIBBLING SOON

Washington, Feb. 12.—While some opposition to railroad bill as finally agreed upon in conference has developed the senate and house leaders predicted today the conference report on measure would be promptly adopted so legislation would be on statute books before roads are returned to private control in March. Final draft of conference report now being made and it will be presented to senate Saturday or Monday. House expects take up Monday or Tuesday and leaders said today it will be disposed of in two days.

PORTO RICA POTATOES.

The promoters of the Bryas Sweet Potato Curing Plant request the Eagle to announce that in addition to the facts stated in Wednesday's Eagle that the best selection of potatoes to be planted in Brazos county are the Porto Rican variety. These yams produce a better potato here and are more serviceable for curing. A definite announcement will be made in a few days regarding the plans of the company.

THEFT OF LIBERTY BONDS IS NIPPED IN BUD QUICKLY

New York, Feb. 12.—The arrest Tuesday afternoon of two Wall street messenger boys and a man with several thousand dollars of liberty bonds and securities prevented what the detectives believe would have been the greatest theft of liberty bonds and securities the financial district has ever known. The detectives declared that the plot was to steal at least $5,000,000 and escape to Canada.

The magnitude of the theft frightened several of the Wall street messenger boys, who told detectives of the contemplated wholesale robbery. This resulted in the arrest of Edward J. Furey, 46 years old; Joseph Gluck, 23 years old, a messenger, and his brother, Irving, 19 years old.

According to the detectives, the boys who informed them of the gigantic robbery plot offered securities valued at $500,000 to Furey more than a week ago. He said that was not enough; that they must get at least $5,000,000 worth.

CITY MANAGER RETURNS.

City Manager J. W. Greer returned last night from a few days visit on business to Beeville and also to look after his ranching and farming interests near that city. He will remain in Bryan until Saturday when he will leave to assume his duties as city manager at Tallahassee, Florida.

Washington, Feb. 12.—President Wilson will have personal conference tomorrow with three representatives of Railroad Brotherhoods to discuss wage demands of two million railroad employees which are to be referred to him by Director General Hines. The announcement said it was undecided which of the brotherhood representatives will be invited to the White House. Secretary Tumulty, who made the announcement, added this is to be left to Director Hines. Union leaders will see the president on the south lawn at the White House where President Wilson spends a portion of each morning. Director General Hines conferred with Secretary Tumulty this morning and then returned to his office where conference was held by railroad workers nearly a year ago.

Selection of their spokesmen was left by President Wilson to union representatives who chose B. M. Jewell, of Railway Employees Department, American Federation of Labor; W. J. Manin, president of the Order of Railway Telegraphers and Timothy Shea, acting president of Brotherhood of Firemen and Engineers. It was said at the White House that President Wilson has been giving the railroad situation serious thought for several days and it was his suggestion that he see the union men.

Disposition of wage demands of more than two million railroad employees today was in President Wilson's hands. Decision to lay the matter before President Wilson was made late yesterday after director General Hines and representatives of employees had failed to reach an agreement. Just how much time the president will require in considering statements from both sides is problematical but it was believed it would be short.

Details of Strike.

Washington, Feb. 12.—The railroad administration, nearing the end of its control over the nation's rail transportation systems, tonight faces a critical situation with respect to the wage demands of more than two million employees. Conferences tomorrow between Director General Hines and leaders of the workers union, probably will determine the outcome of the situation. Officials of the unions submitted to the director general at today's meetings a new statement which served to open all important questions on which the two sides were at variance, and will require further discussion before a settlement can be reached. Mr. Hines said he would reply tomorrow.

Trainmen Also Threaten to Quit.

Meanwhile, W. C. Lee, president, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, was pressing Mr. Hines for an answer to the demands of his individual organization and insisting the trainmen were ready to strike unless a satisfactory settlement was reached. Railroad administration officials also received informal notice that they must contend with a strike called by the brotherhood of maintenance of way employees and shop laborers.

Further than admitting that he had given the railroad administration the required thirty days notice of intention to cancel the present wage contract on February 23, Mr. Lee declined to discuss the plans of his union. The vote taken under his instructions was said to show a large majority favoring a strike.

Threatens Complete Rail Tie Up. This last phase of the situation was given railroad administration officials concern because, should the trainmen walk out an almost complete tie up of traffic could be the only result. The thousands of engineers, firemen and conductors could not operate the trains, for in many states they would be forbidden to work under "full crew" laws unless all trainmen required were on duty, it was explained. Union by-laws also prohibit other employees from taking out trains not manned by the regulation number of brakemen.

Officials of the other three train operating unions were declared not to be supporting Mr. Lee aggressively in his demands, although he was said to have communicated with each of them before notifying Mr. Hines of his intention to cancel the wage agreement.

Decline to Commit Themselves on Move. The communication of the trainmen's president was said to have been merely a request for a statement from other unions as to their objection, if any, to the proposed action. The leaders are understood to have replied they had no objection but declined to commit themselves as to supporting the proposed move.

The action of President Baker of the maintenance of way union was declared again by railroad administration officials to be in violation of his wage agreement.

"PRODUCE OR DIE."

Rather disturbing is the result of a canvass among farmers, given to the postoffice committee of the senate by James I. Blakeslee, fourth assistant postmaster general. Forty thousand answers to a questionnaire sent out generally, indicate an intention to cut down acreages and reduce production of foodstuffs in 1920.

The farmers have several grievances. They work hard, with long hours, and for comparatively small returns, they hold, while city dwellers live more comfortably, and put in fewer hours at higher pay. According to Mr. Blakeslee's report, the farmer is "no longer willing to toil and produce for the striker, the profiteer and the short-hour, high-wage man."

What shall we say to the farmers who reduce the supply in order to increase prices? Do they differ much from industrial chiefs who limit output to get the same results? Or from skilled workers who restrict apprenticeships and slow down operations in order to perpetuate the labor shortage?

We all have one another by the throat, and the more we punish others the more we suffer ourselves. The farmers have had their faces trampled upon, and now they would walk upon the countenances of those who have heeded them not. The vicious circle grows more vicious.

There is but one way to salvation. When Premier Millerland told the French to "produce or die," he pointed the way. We must work harder, produce more, create a surplus of goods of all kinds. Soviet Russia decrees a twelve-hour working day, having been forced by dire distress to adopt the inevitable remedy. The world must throw off its debauch of laziness and profligacy, and produce.

A. AND M. COLLEGE WORK.

While it is a grave problem for Dr. W. B. Bizzell, president of A. and M. College, to meet the issues on short appropriations, made so by the high prices created in all lines, to keep on the faculty a number of widely known instructors, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is going on without serious thought creating sentiment in favor of establishing another A. and M. College in Texas. Dr. Bizzell realizes the crisis that is confronting the work of all the present established institutions and is doing all in his power to meet it. Dr. Bizzell is one of the foremost educators in the country. He has studied the details of the present movement declaring for the building of new institutions when the older ones are in great need of additional appropriations and is sure that the promoters do not realize what a burden a new $4,000,000 or $5,000,000 A. and M. College would be on the tax payers. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce was organized amid the smell of the oil derricks, has no conception that mere resolutions and enthusiasm will found an institution at cost of $5,000,000 and an annual appropriation of $1,500,000 to support it. The time is not ripe for this new A. and M. College venture even to satisfy our West Texas friends and perhaps prevent them from starting a movement for a division of the state. The present is no time for experiment especially when it means to hurt established and honorable institutions. When men madly enthused with their newly gotten oil money become sane perhaps they will see the error of their way and not attempt further to impair the work of our great A. and M. College but rather to its assistance with sufficient money to carry on the work yet unfinished for the coming generations of Texas.

PRICES TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.

Taken from the files of the Houston Post twenty-five years ago: "Market Quotations: Cotton, 5 1-8c per pound; sugar, 4 1-4c per pound; breakfast bacon, 10 1-2c per pound; eggs, 17c per dozen; fresh Texas country butter, 40c per pound; chickens, $3 per dozen; whiskey, $2 per gallon."

Sad indeed are calculations. It was decided to confiscate all liquor in the Ranger oil fields for the fight on the "flu." In one day the whiskey was exhausted and the "flu" went merrily on. Ounces and half pints were like snowflakes on the river.

Judge M. M. Brooks, of Dallas, for many years a member of the court of criminal appeals of Texas, and a candidate for governor, has declared for the unconditional repeal of the suspended sentence law of Texas. It is self-evident that the suspended sentence law has done a great deal of harm so far as the criminal class of Texas is concerned and in only a few instances has done any good.

PROPOSED WEST TEXAS A. AND M. COLLEGE AGAIN.

Press dispatches continue to carry the rumor that the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is moving to have the next legislature create an agricultural and mechanical college for West Texas and that the question will culminate in a meeting to be held in Fort Worth on February 23rd. Recently the West Texas Chamber of Commerce adopted a resolution calling upon Ben F. Looney, of Greenville; R. E. Thomason, of El Paso; Pat M. Neff, of Waco; R. L. Henry, of Waco, and Dwight L. Lewellen, of Dallas, who are candidates for governor, to express themselves on the question. It seems that a particular section of Texas which supports the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has recently grown immensely rich by the discovery of oil and has forgotten the great basic principles of our cherished educational institutions under the terms of the laws and grants of the country.

To read the voluminous resolutions promulgated by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce demanding another A. and M. college in Texas, we are lead to believe in the discovery of their new fortunes from oil our friends out there do not realize that a most serious crisis confronts all the educational institutions of Texas in the way of meeting the demands for money to pay adequate salaries of teachers and instructors. The business world is now knocking at the door of every Texas educational institution, including the A. and M. college, and offering instructors much larger salaries. There is a grave danger ahead and the issues must be met. Then the A. and M. college has not yet reached the full measure of its usefulness as it is handicapped for want of adequate funds? Why establish another institution and create a situation more acute? Texas might as well build another state university and go before the country with a divided educational system—who would favor such a scheme?

Would our West Texas friends desire to cripple our already splendid institutions and gain nothing themselves? They should realize that this is no time to launch great educational movements until our already established institutions have reached their limit. If they would be solemnly patriotic instead of creating discord they would join in the movement to secure better salaries for the instructors and perpetuate our present college. Do they really understand the gravity of the situation? To launch a building program now would cost the state and tax payers 100 per cent more than four years ago. If the present A. and M. college is hampered for funds to meet the requirements, why should the burdens be made heavier? The Eagle really believes our West Texas friends have allowed their enthusiasm to run away with their good judgment and do not realize that their contention for a new A. and M. college is without foundation and brings a serious crisis in the life and progress of established institutions that if followed out will be felt for years to come.

The Literary Digest gives an editorial extract from the San Francisco Call urging that the allies abandon the demand for the trial of the Kaiser and his surrender by Holland under the danger of making the Kaiser a new hero in Germany. The King of Bavaria is quoted as saying that the demand is "unreasonable and impudent." It might make a little friction but mere sentiment in Germany should not cause the arch criminal of the ages to escape the condemnation of the civilized world. Napoleon was banished and it might be well to banish Wilhelm. In fact our criminal laws, state, national and international, should not be set aside to calm the turbulent hearts of the savage mobs. The Kaiser brought on the war and millions were murdered and he must pay the penalty. The sooner the transaction is finished the better, so that the world can get its breath and go to work. There has been too much loafing and inefficiency pending the settlement of all the questions involved in the war. A definite policy as to the League of Nations, the trial of the Kaiser and the other criminals of the war and the passing out of millions of plows and axes to Europe with the command to go to work will stop the miserable begging now going on. It is not charity to give loafers bread continually but the true charity is to show them how to become honorable and thrifty.

The New York World in launching the Herbert C. Hoover presidential boom was quite serious in the joke. When the World suggests that Mr. Hoover must run on the Independent, Democratic, Republican or Progressive ticket it admits that Mr. Hoover is not even a possibility in the White House. No man in the United States who has not aligned himself with some political party can ever receive the nomination for president and it is a waste of time to figure otherwise. It takes an organization to land a presidential nomination where there is a reasonable chance of success. Admiral Dewey, poor fellow, who once desired to be president, had no party hence had no support. He was disappointed the remainder of his life because the American people would not put a non-party man in the presidency. There are many reasons why Mr. Hoover could not win the presidency and the World is simply carrying water up the hill and back again.

There is a community over in Upshur county that has according to the census 167 hogs and 338 dogs. Upshur county evidently needs a few "more hogs and fewer dog clubs." We do not have to go to Europe to see where inefficiency begins.

Sam H. Dixon, candidate for state commissioner of agriculture, states that if he is elected he will have a potato curing plant built in every county where sweet potatoes are raised. In view of the fact that Texas raised a million bushels of potatoes last fall we hope Sam will win and build the plants. We will not begrudge him the $2,500 salary.

TEXAS SHOULD SUPPORT HER A. AND M. COLLEGE.

A dispatch from Fort Worth says that a meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be held there February 23, and that one of the subjects to be discussed will be the creation of an Agricultural and Mechanical College for West Texas. We are heartily in favor of such a college. Our present A. and M. College in Brazos county we believe to be one of the very best in the whole country. It has an excellent faculty and one among the very ablest college executives. It is doing a great work. And it is handicapped in rendering service to the whole state only by its location. And that it is handicapped in this respect admits of little doubt. This is not said however in disparagement of the place of its location. Wherever it might have been located this would still be true. At the time of its location no better place for it could have been found. And that remains true also. But Texas is such a large state, with such a variety of climate and soil that no one institution, however large or efficient, can possibly serve its needs. While the west was comparatively undeveloped the need for such an institution in that section was not felt. But now that West Texas has grown to be one of our most important farming sections, with agricultural problems peculiarly its own, the needs in this direction of that part of the state must be taken care of.—Navasota Examiner-Review.

The promoters of the new Texas A. and M. College are making a very serious mistake. It would be perfectly wise to advocate the organization of experiment stations and junior colleges in the different sections of Texas but under present conditions to ask for the establishment of another college to teach agriculture and mechanics as a science is a grievous mistake. The West Texas location would be no better than the present location for anyone location cannot make a practical demonstration of all products. There would have to be as many colleges as there are different soils and crops in Texas if the plea of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce was followed out. This would bring on a crisis from which the cause of education along the lines of the college work would not recover. Sentiment and resolutions will not build an A. and M. College to teach the science and principles of agriculture and mechanics. Today our A. and M. College is actually staggering under the financial stress and strain and instructors and educators are going every few days to more remunerative callings. Our A. and M. College needs money and financial support and to build another would only complicate matters. If the Examiner-Review, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and others can demonstrate where sufficient money is to come from to build and maintain another Texas A. and M. College they will prove themselves wise in their day and generation. There is an educational crisis now confronting Texas and it will take millions to meet it and save the present institutions from decay. And in this crisis the thoughtless might as well propose another State University.

In commenting on the suspension of another Grimes county newspaper Editor Ed Blackshear, of the Navasota Examiner-Review says: "The E.-R. will try to continue to live in spite of the hard time it is having." Many of the larger newspapers of the country are consolidating and smaller ones are suspending on account of the increased cost of operating expenses. Recently the St. Louis Republic and the St. Louis Globe-Democrat were consolidated as has been the New York Herald and the New York Sun. Some of the materials going into newspapers have advanced as high as 300 per cent in the past year and are still soaring and soaring.

Since the almost unanimous defeat of Premier Clemenceau by the politicians of France for the presidency his famous remark on Armistice Day is recalled: "I ought to die now. They could at least give me a funeral." Republics like many individuals are ungrateful. In less than fifteen months after the populace shouted: "He won the war," Clemenceau's name was repudiated and he was deserted by all in authority. Clemenceau saved France but was not able to save himself.

The farmers of the United States have refused to join in a new political movement. If the farmers should strike potatoes would no doubt go to three dollars per pound and the country would starve. Every strike only increases the cost of living and strikes are the most disastrous agencies in the world except war. Strikes have increased the cost of living nearly 100 per cent and have done no good.

It is estimated by some of the ferocious Huns that if the madman over in Holland is brought to trial by the allies for the crimes of the war the German people will get behind him and cause the real battle of Armageddon to be fought. That is the very reason the Kaiser ought to be gotten now. There is no good Kaiser except a departed Kaiser.

The Eagle has been asked the following point-blank question: "What is your concrete idea of luxury?" It was so sudden that we asked the philosopher at our elbow and he promptly replied: "A pair of suspenders for every pair of pants." Some suggestion.

After awhile our drummer friends will only come around to tell us it is impossible to fill our orders. A few more strikes in the United States will bring shorter production, less efficiency and higher prices.

The proposition of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to erect another Agricultural and Mechanical College really resembles a forward educational movement so far as the "resolution" end of it is concerned. But if the promoters knew the real situation and the strenuous methods being used to secure sufficient money to pay a instructors of the already established institutions of Texas they would perhaps pause just awhile. It is one thing to propose to build and another to really build. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce does not distinguish between theory and practice.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The management takes pleasure in announcing that in the future A. J. Buchanan will be connected with the Daily and Weekly Eagle as local editor and manager. For many years Mr. Buchanan was with the business and news departments of the Eagle and is well known to the entire citizenship. Any business entrusted to him or any courtesies extended to him will be duly appreciated.

EAGLE PRINTING CO.

When Europe decides to go to work and assume some responsibility in the reconstruction period the United States can decide to send them some real plows and axes. The poorest charity in the world is the cheap sort that continually offers a handout and no honorable means to produce something. Europe will gain nothing by practicing criminality and loafing. The whole world must go to work—to save the world.

Some of our newspapers are carrying on considerably regarding the loss of elk in Yellowstone Park for fear there will be an underproduction. At the same time we are reminded that the loss of several hundred thousand head of beef cattle every year is curtailing beef production and causes very little comment. The American people are going to have to change front soon on many economic questions.

Members of the Speepleville Poland-China association have asked Associate Country Demonstration Agent W. B. Hargis to invite A. L. Ward of A. and M. college or some other competent authority for a talk on the night of February 20, the date of the next meeting. They are taking much interest in their organization.—Waco Tribune-News.

Secretary Franklin K. Lane of the department of the interior has tendered his resignation to the President effective March 1st. We can understand how he could get his consent to resign from the cabinet per se, but we never will understand how he could muster up courage sufficient to uncouple himself from that twelve thousand dollars a year.

The Texas Councillor, the Texas Republican organ published at Fort Worth, is authority for the statement that Brazos county will probably go republican next November. It is said that the editor of the Councillor changed the word three times before he made it read "probably." He will get his reward in the hereafter.

"For even when we were with you, this we commanded, that if any work not, neither should he eat." St. Paul, a great Methodist and a great Democrat wrote this, and it ought to go in the platform.—George Bailey.

There are too many homes without a cow; too many without a garden; too many without poultry of any kind.

The repairs to Pitts Bridge are now being made and the highway into that big, rich, Brazos bottom territory will soon be open.

Bryan now has plenty of coal and we'll be able to make it through to warm weather. That is something to be thankful for.

The fact that general flu has not yet launched an offensive in this particular sector is no good reason for failure to take every precautionary measure.

Isn't it a source of comfort to know that while the north and east shiver beneath a blanket of snow, sunshine and smiles make life worth while in south Texas.

The Denver Post states that it will pay $25,000 reward to the physician finding a cure for influenza. The editor of the Post evidently had a very severe attack.

A movement has been launched to demonstrate through the movie screen just what the south is doing in the way of farming and dairying as an appeal to settlers.

If you are going to be counted in the census enumeration you must bestir yourself and see that your name is on the rolls. Bryan has only a few more days in which to complete its count.

Press Headline: "One Thousand Men to Quit Work." The time has about arrived when the headline should read that some body was going to work. Every time there is a strike prices go up.

We suppose it will sound shockingly presumptuous to Houston and Dallas but candor compels us to admit that General Pershing could fare a lot worse than to stop in Bryan. Folks here would extend the glad hand.

Secretary Daniels of the United States navy declares that America has fiddled away the past year in a manner characterized as the "tragedy of tragedies," but he failed to say who it is that is doing the fiddling.

It does not necessarily mean that the nation's finances are running low merely because 566 banks, designated as depositories, have been dropped—the government is carrying on its business through the reserve banks more than ever before.

"He that oppresseth the poor to increase his own riches, shall himself give to one that is richer, and shall be in need."—Prov. xxii, 16.

"And Jesus said: How hardly shall they that have riches enter into the kingdom of God. For it is easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God."—Luke xviii, 24-25.

The Houston Post twenty-five years ago: "Bryan.—Dabney White of the Fort Worth Gazette is at the Agricultural and Mechanical college this week, in the interest of his paper." Mr. White is at present editor of the Tyler Courier Times and is leading a very strenuous life.

With hope about the only thing wet that is left in this country, why make prohibition a campaign issue?

Continued agitation is a mighty good thing, but the only way to build a city is to build it—people can't live in paper houses.

The naval engagement that has been waged in Washington during the last few days makes a submarine attack fade into insignificance.

Keep Well

Do not allow the poisons of undigested food to accumulate in your bowels, where they are absorbed into your system. Indigestion, constipation, headache, bad blood, and numerous other troubles are bound to follow. Keep your system clean, as thousands of others do, by taking an occasional dose of the old, reliable, vegetable, family liver medicine.

We use it in the family and believe it is the best medicine for the liver made." Try it. Insist on the genuine—Theodor's. 25c a package. E-75

TREES SHOULD BE SET OUT WHILE IN DORMANT STATE

Now is the time to set out shade trees. For the best results trees should be planted while in a dormant condition before the roots have started rapid development says the Texas Forest News, issued at A. and M. College under the auspices of the state department of forestry. This new growth usually takes place in February or early March in Texas so by doing all tree planting as soon as possible the chances of failure will be materially reduced. In selecting trees preference should be given to species whose adaptability to the soil and climate has been demonstrated.

New introductions should be regarded in the nature of experiments until their worth and ability to succeed have been proven. Watch your neighbor's trees. If his are doing well plant some like them. If you must have quick results remember that our fastest growing trees such as chinaberry and poplar are relatively short-lived; and alternate with some more permanent kind even though its growth is slow. Secure trees from local nurseries if possible.

These nursery grown trees have better roots and are thrifter than wild stock. Moreover the tops are more carefully pruned and in better condition. In buying wild trees do not get large trees cut back to a pole. Almost invariably this type of stock develops a dead stub in the top which weakens the crown and if uncared for shortens the life of the tree. In the long run a smaller tree with good roots and the top not too severely pruned back will develop into a more thrifty, satisfactory shade tree than a larger tree with poor roots and a top cut back to a two inch diameter. Improve your town by planting shade trees. Aim at uniformity of species and spacing and start at it now.

The school invited Mr. Beason, our former county demonstration agent, to make us a talk last Friday afternoon. He came at the appointed hour showing thereby he still has an interest in the boys and girls of Brazos county. He gave us a talk on "What Do I Expect to Do in Life?" which was full of inspiration from beginning to end. Mike, a faithful club member and favorite of Mr. Beason's says:

"Never will I be satisfied to be a hot tamale peddler. I have started to climbing the ladder of success round by round, shall I stop when I reach dizzy heights? No, no, when my Savior calls me home I shall be reaching for the round above."

CONSERVATION OF GAME SHOULD BE CHARGE OF A. & M.

Reconstruction of the state fish, game and oyster department is favored by Col. W. G. Sterett, head of the department. A system which would charge the university of Texas with responsibility for the construction of the fish and oyster resources and the A. and M. college with the conservation of bird and game life is advocated by Colonel Sterett, with the use of Texas Rangers for enforcement of the fish and game laws.

Under the present system, he says, responsibility falls on one man, who to fulfill his duties should be a "first-class scientific man and at the same time a first-class policeman."

Game birds can be artificially propagated in Texas, he said. The raising of game birds for distribution over the state on the prairie farms is suggested by Colonel Sterett. A number of pheasants were raised last year he said. The birds eat insect voraciously. Colonel Sterett estimates a million pheasants in Texas would be worth $5,000,000 to the farmers.—Dallas News.
